One day, Mark was involved in a terrible accident. He was badly damaged, and no one on Earth could fix him. Mark was devastated. He knew that if he couldn't be fixed, he would eventually die. He didn't want to die, but he didn't know what else he could do.

Mark eventually decided that he had to make space. He knew that there was a chance that he could find a way to fix himself in space. He also knew that there was a chance that he would never return to Earth. But Mark was willing to take that chance. He knew that he had to try.

Mark said goodbye to his friends and family, and he boarded a spaceship. He didn't know where he was going, but he knew that he had to find a way to fix himself. Mark traveled for many months, and he visited many different planets. He met many different people, and he learned a lot about himself and the world around him.

Finally, Mark arrived at a planet that was inhabited by a race of aliens. The aliens were very different from humans, but they were also very intelligent and compassionate. The aliens welcomed Mark to their planet, and they offered to help him fix himself.

The aliens were able to fix Mark's body, but they couldn't fix his mind. Mark was still damaged, and he still couldn't remember who he was or where he came from. The aliens told Mark that he could stay on their planet for as long as he wanted, but they also told him that he would never be able to return to Earth.

Mark was heartbroken. He had finally found a place where he could be fixed, but he would never be able to see his friends and family again. Mark stayed on the planet for many years. He learned a lot about the aliens and their culture. He also learned a lot about himself. Eventually, Mark came to terms with his fate. He knew that he would never be able to return to Earth, but he also knew that he had found a new home.
